

Logitech Presents iPad Pro Keyboard

Written by Marco Attard
16 September 2015

Apple is not the only company with a keyboard-case combo for the iPad Pro -- Logitech announces the Create Keyboard Case, the first from a 3rd party compatible with the tablet's Smart Connector.

"With a full-size keyboard designed to work with iOS 9, the Logitech Create will help make the iPad Pro a creativity and productivity powerhouse," the company says. "Even the colour and finish of the keyboard are meticulously crafted to feel and look like the other half of your iPad Pro."

Use of the 3-pronged Smart Connector means the keyboard automatically powers and pairs with the iPad Pro when put in typing position, with no additional pairing required. The keys are in plastic, while a "tightly-woven premium fabric" protects against scratches, bumps and spills.

The Logitech Create Keyboard Case is available in select European markets once the iPad Pro hits the market from November 2015.

Go Logitech Create: The First 3rd Party Keyboard for iPad Pro