The Logi Base is an iPad Pro accessory Apple itself is still to produce-- a charging dock using the tablet's Smart Connector port to take care of charging and syncing duties.

The Base supports both 12.9- and 9.7-inch versions of the iPad Pro. It features aluminium construction, a rubber anti-slip base, and the charging cradle uses magnets to align the device with the charging pins. Actual power comes through connecting a Lightning cable and power brick to the back of the Base.

“Last fall we introduced Logi Create-- the first 3rd-party keyboard compatible with Apple’s Smart Connector,” the company says. “With the introduction of the new 9.7-inch iPad Pro, we’re excited to continue to deliver innovation-- beyond the keyboard-- that leverages the Smart Connector and helps you make the most of your iPad Pro, in any room at home or the office.”

The Logi Base is available now.
