Gigabyte teams up with liquid cooling manufacturer EK Water Blocks with a promotion bundle combining a Gigabyte motherboard with a limited edition EK monoblock.

The Gigabyte motherboard comes in 2 versions-- the X99-Ultra Gaming or Z170X-Gaming 7-- while the monoblock on offer is either a limited edition EK-FB GA-Z170X monoblock or the EK-Supremacy EVO X99 water block, both engraved with a custom G1 design.

The two companies say the EK-FB GA-Z170X monoblock is ideal for use with the Z170X-Gaming 7 motherboard. It uses the EK-Supremacy EVO cooling engine to keep not only the motherboard cool, but also cover the MOSFET module, allowing water to flow directly over all critical motherboard areas to ensure "highest possible" overlocks.

Meanwhile the EK-Supremacy EVO X99 is a high-performance water block developed for use with Intel X99 chipsets on the LGA2011-v3 platform.

This limited edition runs from August 2016 until stocks last.
