The Genesis, Lexmark's latest AIO printer, not only looks stylish but also offers speedy scanning, inkjet printing and wifi connection.

The company says the Genesis can scan a page in 3 seconds thanks to its 10MP imaging sensor.

A 4.3" touchscreen handles the user interface and allows users access to Lexmark's SmartSolutions cloud-based application suite (including Evernote and Box.net). A Twitter and Facebook app lets users print pictures posted on their social media through the printer itself. It can also access pictures on devices like iPhones and iPads.

Internet connections come through wifi and IEE 802.11n.

The Genesis uses Lexmark's Vizix print technology, with separate colour ink cartridges.
