

2014, the End of Windows XP

Written by Marco Attard
10 April 2013

Next year comes the end of the longest-lived Microsoft OS yet, Windows XP-- Microsoft will only support Windows XP users until 8 April 2014.

Customers and partners will no longer receive XP and Office 2003 security updates or be able to leverage on Microsoft tech support after the date.

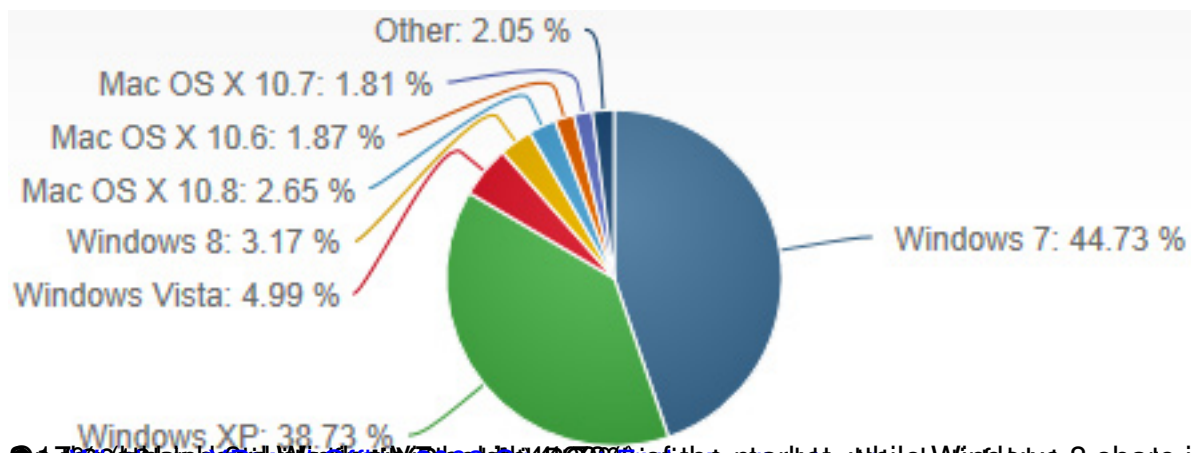

In other words, Microsoft wants everyone to migrate to Windows 7 (if not 8) sooner rather than later.

However Windows XP remains popular-- according to Net Applications XP is the 2nd biggest desktop OS around with 38.73% market share, even 10 years after initial release.

2014, the End of Windows XP

Written by Marco Attard

10 April 2013

007 Windows 7, Windows XP, Windows 8, Windows Vista, Mac OS X 10.8, Mac OS X 10.7, Mac OS X 10.6, Other