This year's edition of CEA's Tech Trends to Watch names technology and privacy, the future of video distribution & consumption, mobile broadband/4G, green technology and the future of apps.

CEA president and CEO Gary Shapiro says the report offers crucial insight into a rapidly changing industry. The highlighted trends are the ones impacting the marketplace, he continues.

The report includes a special section dedicated to the question "Are we changing technology to suit our needs, or is technology changing us?"
